

Australian New Urbanism - An Overview of Progress

New Mixed Use Street-based Town Centres

Gungahlin

Canberra, ACT

New street-based town centre, and new relatively-dense
'inner suburbs'. Led by an ACT Development Authority.

Shellharbour City Centre

Shellharbour, NSW

Creating a street-based town centre for Shellharbour by linking up two distant retail stand-alone centres. Mixed uses are gradually being constructed along the new street. Cinemas and restaurants are completed. Pub underway.

Rouse Hill Regional Centre

NW Sydney, NSW

Street-based mixed use regional centre under construction in 2007 to serve new urban growth in Sydney's North-west Sector. State government-owned site.

Joondalup City Centre

Perth, WA

Creating dense, mixed use inner suburbs around a new urban fringe centre. Extensive terrace housing, rear lanes, studio units and a range of small business spaces.

Point Cook Town Centre

Western Melbourne, VIC

Main street-based centre to serve around 30,000 people in the Wyndham growth corridor. 'Melbourne 2030' demonstration. Private developer (Walker Corp) appointed by VicUrban, and construction of Stage 1 is now open (August 2008).

Australian New Urbanism - An Overview of Progress

Urban Centre Regeneration

Kogarah Town Centre

Southern Sydney, NSW

Major revitalisation of middle-ring town centre to walkable urban village. Catalysed by redevelopment of a Council car park to a five-storey mixed use development focussed around a new town square. Leading design demonstration of building energy and water efficiency.

Gosnells Town Centre

Perth, WA

Council-led redevelopment of town centre badly affected by low amenity, car-based highway strip development. New Main Street connected at-grade across the rail line to integrate communities west of the line into the Centre, and a new station constructed.

Wynnum Central Brisbane, Qld

Charrette-based community
-initiated TOD revitalisation strategy incorporating 6-8 storey mixed use buildings

major city regions.

Conclusions

Key Challenges for Australian New Urbanism

- Encouraging more use of integrative and collaborative design -based planning processes
- Finding a better balance between ‘green/blue’ conservation land protection and efficient urban structure.
- Continuing battles against conservative Local and State Government engineering standards - ‘land slop’!
- Making real progress towards increased residential density and mixed use, under increased political resistance and financier conservatism.
- ‘The Long Emergency’, peak oil, climate change, and the likely need for radical and rapid change to urban development in response to oil supply and greenhouse gas challenges.

Enquiry-by-Design approach

Most projects involved significant design workshops or charrettes

Highlights the competing challenges to achieving good urbanism

Key to integrative high quality outcomes

Creates positive vision of development

Collaboratively resolves technical issues

Engages with community stakeholders

Enables the vision to be maintained over time

Moving towards better Urban Sustainability and lower Carbon Developments

Need regional-scale design-based urban structure plans for the most sustainable outcomes

Perth NW Corridor, Western Sydney Growth Centres, LN

Infill intensification and regeneration better than new extensions, especially when linked to public transport

Subi-centro, Kogarah, Wynnum TOD

At town/neighbourhood scale NU creates denser, more walkable, more transit-friendly, more mixed use places

Tullimbar, Wellard, Somerly, Brighton, Harvest Lakes

Need strong emphasis on making great town centres, both new and as mall retrofits

Rouse Hill, Shellharbour, Point Cook

Ensure that green/blue 'sustainability' is balanced against good urban structure, to the benefit of both

Effective ratings of Urban Development Sustainability

 Silver 50-59 points
 Gold 60-79 points
 Platinum 80-106 points

CNU has partnered with USA Green Building Council to develop LEED-ND

Pilot rating system now released

Pilot testing phase just commencing

Strong emphasis on location.... favours infill sites over greenfields

Strong emphasis on design for physical activity and health

Congress For The New Urbanism (CNU)

- A global organisation for New Urbanist practitioners and supporters
- Began in 1993 and based in the USA
- Holds annual congresses - CNU XIV is in June 2006 in Providence, Rhode Island
- There have been active Australian and New Zealand members since the outset...
- The Australian delegation to the Congress each year is usually the largest of any country outside the USA
- www.cnu.org

Charter Of The New Urbanism

- First adopted by CNU Members in 1996
- Available on the CNU website, www.cnu.org
- Statement of 27 principles for urban qualities at the scales of the Region, the Neighbourhood, the Street and the Building
- The book 'Charter of the New Urbanism', CNU, 2000, explains each of the principles
- The Charter is also reprinted in the ACNU Projects Book
